GENERAL JUDGING CRITERIA

Each year, the WORLD CLASS Competition challenges are designed to test every aspect of a bartender's skills and technique, as well as how he/she works under time pressure. Some of the challenges require mastery of classic recipes and knowledge of the stories behind them, while others require spontaneous creativity and inventiveness, as well as the ability to create new flavors. Above all, your ability to communicate with your guests, to charm them and explain your work to them, if necessary, will be one of our most important evaluation criteria - this has always been an important part of the art of bartending.

1. The judges of the Competition must include at least 1 of each of the following:
 - a. Global/Regional or Market Diageo Luxury Sales Representatives. Market Diageo Luxury Sales Representatives must be from the market to the one where The Competition is taking place.
 - b. Respected bar-industry professionals with and recognized within their own local bar community.
2. The Competition can include judges from outside this area of expertise, but bar-industry professionals must be in the majority.
